How to Use Daily Language Review

This book is divided into 36 weekly sections. Each weekly unit provides daily assessment activities.

Monday through Thursday

- Students edit sentences and make corrections to punctuation, capitalization, and grammar.
- Students complete items that practice a variety of language and reading skills.

Friday

- Students focus on practicing a single skill.
- Students complete a daily progress record that tracks their work for the week.

Hints and Suggestions

Customize the daily review lessons to meet the needs of your class.

- Look ahead each week at the skills being practiced. If you encounter a new skill, complete the item as a class.
- Correct students' work together to model the correct responses.
- As skills are repeated throughout the year, monitor students' mastery.

Proofread this paragraph. Find the 10 errors, cross them out, and write the words correctly above them.

My mother's family comes from China, so last summer, my parents, my littleest sister, and I went to China. We wanted to visit our chinese relatives. We landed in Hong Kong, where more of them live. Hong Kong is a biggest city with many more people than San Francisco, where my family lives. Hong Kong is the most big city I've ever visited. We were able to buy many things for very little money, since american prices are much high than Hong Kong prices. Auntie Mu Tan and Uncle Gim live on the Kowloon Peninsula in an area called Yau Ma Tei. Auntie Mu Tan says that's where the better shops are. I found a japanese doll there that I wanted to buy, but my aunt said I should buy something that I could find only in Hong Kong. I ended up buying the prettyest Chinese silk dress I'd ever seen, and it was made by one of the women in the shops near my aunt and uncle's house.

How We Began

In 1979, Joy Evans and Jo Ellen Moore were team-teaching first grade in a Title I school. They decided to put ideas that worked for their students into a book. They joined with Bill Evans (Joy's brother) to start Evan-Moor Educational Publishers with one title.

Who We Became

Evan-Moor now offers over 450 titles, many of which have won awards for quality, creativity, and innovation. Our materials are used in classrooms around the world.

Our Mission

Now, as then, we are dedicated to helping children learn. We think it is the world's most important job, and we strive to assist teachers and parents in this essential endeavor.
